

ABSTRACT

An attachment for a hand-held power tool, such as a rotary cutting tool, is disclosed. The attachment is configured for selective coupling to a rotary cutting tool and includes a handle that is substantially perpendicular to a central longitudinal axis
5 of the rotary cutting tool when the attachment is coupled to the rotary cutting tool.